Can Battleship Fleet May be Sent to Scene of Earthquake Disaster--Congress to be Asked for Liberal Appropriation

Dec. 31.—Naval officers at Messina estimate the population of that city today at 135,000, and place the total at 175,000. They do not state on what facts they have increased estimate.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The American battleship fleet, now passing through the Red Sea, will probably be sent to the scene of the earthquake disaster in Italy.
To this effect are being discussed between the heads of the navy and state departments, and if entirely satisfied by the Italian government, orders to that effect will be issued.

It is learned from an authoritative source that President Roosevelt will send an urgent message to congress
as it assembles, asking for a liberal appropriation for the benefit of the Italian earthquake victims.

Calabria, Dec. 31.—King
Emmanuel, Minister of Justice and Minister of Public Instruction arrived here today on the cruiser Coatit. They found the part of the city under 25 feet of water. The upper part of the city was a heap of ruins, not a building, and survivors are scattered.

A battleship landed the stricken victims of those still alive struck the hearts of the king and queen. The remnant of the population was maddened with joy at the arrival of the cruiser.

Only not more than 5000 or 6000 of the population of 45,000
remained.

The Italian battleship, Vittoria Em-manuele, came in a short time bringing a supply of food and other necessities.

The starving inhabitants
seize the provisions and it was necessary to send soldiers to guard the supplies.

The people here declare the coast line is sinking so rapidly that difference is noticed from day to day.

The king entered heroically into the work of relief and had no sleep
during the night, but did not show fatigue. He entered many of the ruins against the protest of his suite,
and subjected himself to dangers
many others would shrink from.

"I am here to do all that I can,"
he replied in answer to the protests.
"No danger is too great for me to face."

There is not a building in Reggio
that can be repaired. The condition of the people here could not have been worse when the Coatit arrived.
Sick, starving, maddened and maimed
they rushed to the improvised landing and fought savagely for the food
that was brought ashore.

Unless the survivors can be removed within 24 hours there is certain to be a big death roll from dis-

DEAD MAY REACH 200,000.

Rome, Dec. 31.—The immensity of the disaster in Southern Italy and Sicily can only be measured by the fact that it is now estimated that 100,000 people perished in Messina and Reggio alone. A score of other towns have been devastated and thousands of victims in these places must be added to the roll. In the face of these awful totals all Italy
stands appalled.

Nor has the full death list yet been reached. Ship loads of fugitives have arrived at Naples and other parts and the vast majority of those are sorely injured. Other thousands remain near the ruins of their homes or wander half starving, half naked, over the land.

Minister Titoni admitted that the government's advisers place the known dead in Messina and Reggio at 115-
000. The government officials hesitate to give out all the details they have learned, fearing the effect of worse news on the population, owing to the fact that in this city and Naples persons are going insane in the streets, their reason dethroned by the awful tidings.

Another violent earthquake shock
occurred at Messina yesterday afternoon. This second shock completed the work of ruin. The few buildings which were left standing in the quake
of Monday collapsed, and it is feared that many more persons were killed.

The news of the second disaster reached here this morning and has not yet been published. The ruin of Messina is now complete and absolutely irrevocable.

Practically all the survivors who were awaiting conveyance by warship from the scene were killed. Many persons who were engaged in the work of rescue were also killed.

Reports from Catania describe the survivors as vainly raking among the ruins for scraps of bread or anything else that can be eaten. They are mostly half naked, and many hear-

KING VICTOR EMMAUEL III
QUEEN HELENA

SCENE SIN SICILY AND MAP OF SECTION
WHERE EARTHQUAKE COST 70,000 LIVES

Rome, Dec. 31.—The estimated loss of life in the earthquake and tidal wave in Sicily, according to reports, was 70,000.
One-half of the ancient city of Messina, which had a population of 90,000, was destroyed. The magnificent cathedral, built in the Norman period and which had withstood the shock of many earthquakes and the clash of contending armes for ages, was badly damaged. Its dome was wrecked. The great cathedral at Catania was also damaged, as were nearly all the historic edifices throughout the island. At the cathedral in Catania Archbishop Nava exhorted the people to be quiet, promising that the relics of St. Agatha should be carried around in procession. In 1689, when a fearful eruption of Mount Etna occurred, the relics of the saint were credited with diverting the flow of lava from the town.

Messina, the second commercial town
in Sicily has experienced more devastation through earthquakes, plague and war than any other place in history. The earthquakes of 1394 and 1905 are well remembered. On those occasions priests carried images of the saints through the streets of the stricken city and among the ruins to calm the people. Messina was founded by Cumæan pirates B. C.
722. In A. D. 842 the Saracens took the city and they in turn were dispossessed
by the Normans in 1062. In 1749 a plague cost the lives of 40,000 persons in the town and in 1783 an earthquake killed
many thousands. The city was bombarded by Neapolitan troops in 1848, and in 1854 cholera killed 16,000 of the residents.

SAD CASE OF

CEDAR STREET

Woman, Infirm and Nearly Blind.
Scantily Clad Occupies Almost Roofless House.

Words are almost inadequate to express the scene of want and woe observed by the writer in a visit to the home, if such it may be called, of a woman and her son living or existing on South Cedar street in Texas.

The house is nearly devoid of roofing and the rain was pouring down in what seemed torrents, every thing inside being soaked, and the water was dripping from the woman's scanty clothing as she came to the door. Infirm and nearly blind, woe and woe were here depicted as I have never before witnessed, and I hope that it will not be my misfortune to again
behold such a sad sight.

Strenuous measures should be applied at once by the proper authorities and charitable institutions.

BURTON

May Have a Clear Field in the Race

C. P. TAFT WITHDRAWS

Leading Candidates Said
to Have Arrived at Final Decision

By Times at Columbus Where
the Big Senatorial Fight is on Midnight Conference.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—The road to the Senate is clear for Theodore Burton of Cleveland. After the conference of last night with Burton and one this morning with party leaders Charles P. Taft issued a statement declaring his formal withdrawal from the race. This was followed closely by one from General J. Warren Keiser who said:

"Since Mr. Taft's withdrawal I feel that I cannot do otherwise than do the same. Therefore I withdraw."

It was expected that Senator Foraker would show strength after this,
Taft turning over the Hamilton county delegation to him, but Hamilton was given to Burton. Foraker then announced his withdrawal, leaving Burton unopposed.

In the statement issued by Taft he said:

"My candidacy from the beginning has been misunderstood. I have been represented as urging personal ambitions at the expense of Republican harmony and success. The imputation is unjust, but of no moment
now. I yield personal ambition for the accomplishment of better and more important things.

Though it does not appear at present that any candidate has enough votes to win a caucus nomination and though friends insist I can be elected
I put these considerations aside, release my friends from further effort in my behalf and withdraw as a candidate for senator. I will resume my place in the councils of the party and render the same service and devotion which have been the great privilege and pride of all my life. It is clear that a prolonged contest for the senatorship would divide the Republican party in Ohio, and I am not willing to be responsible for the division."

At this hour the minor candidates had not been heard from regarding the withdrawal but the withdrawal of Foraker seems to assure Burton's unanimous election.

Columbus, Dec. 31.—That the contest for United States Senatorship is practically at an end seems assured.
The indications are that Congressman Theodore Burton of Cleveland will be chosen through a coalition with the forces that have been up to this time supporting Charles P. Taft.

This important development came late last night, after a day of countering and dealing between the man-

New York, Dec. 31.—In a fit of inhis aged mother, Mrs. Ann Trotter, by beheading her with an ax and a knife. Trotter then jumped from a second story window, as the police broke in the door, but was found outside practically uninjured. He offered no resistance to arrest. He declared that the end of the world was coming and that he had been divinely in-

Trotter is said to have quarrelled frequently with his mother, who was 70 years old and of reputed means,

TALK ON TEETH

SOMETHING YOU POSITIVELY HAVEN'T THOUGHT ABOUT IN THE NEW WAY TO CARE FOR THEM.

The best DENTISTS in this country say that more people have bad and decayed teeth than ever was known. WHY? Because they have taken too much liquid medicine or have chewed up or let dissolve in the mouth too many candy tablets or wafers, that contain medicine for moving the bowels.

If you want good, sound teeth, if you want to preserve the teeth you have, DO NOT TAKE LIQUID MEDICINE, and do not dissolve Candy Tablets in the mouth, if they contain bowel medicine.

CALOMEL also ruins the teeth and gums, it dissolves the bone the tooth is set in and the patient who takes calomel without the directions of a doctor is very apt to set up a condition that will in time destroy his teeth.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the only successful substitute for Calomel.

Do not have to be chewed up or dissolved in the mouth. They are small, sugar-coated and easy to take.

They do not destroy the teeth or leave a bad taste in the mouth and they do their work perfectly. They keep the liver healthy, the stomach sweet, the bowels active. LET THEM BE YOUR LAXATIVE.

Let them prove what they can do and you will always keep them in your house or pocket.

They are for sale by all druggists, 15 Tablets for 10c; 45 for 25c, in packages.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NEWARK FIRE DEPARTMENT

Firemen Respond to More Alarms Than for Number of Previous Years. Bu. Losses Smaller.

The closing of the year 1908, shows the department to have responded to more alarms than for several years previous, while the total losses were far below the average loss of former reports. That the losses have been so reduced is due in great measure to the prompt and vigorous action of the department in the incipient stages of fires. The severe drought of the past summer was responsible for a great many grass and rubbish fires.

AMUSEMENTS

THE PRESS AGENT SAYS:
"The Royal Chef," which will be the attraction at the Auditorium theater, January 1, matinee and night, is a musical comedy constructed much on comic opera lines, some of the music ranging from grand to the popular music hall style. Every number is excellently and brilliantly sung, while the dialogue is more than ordinarily amusing. The piece has been newly and splendidly mounted in good taste for this season's tour. The cast, including W. H. Conley and Miss Mary Malatesta, is entirely up to the requirements of book and score.

"Ma's New Husband" which comes to the Auditorium theater Saturday night promises some rarely entertaining amusement for those who love hearty laughs and funny situations. Every line of the play is a laugh producer and serves to leave an impression long to be remembered. The comedy introduced is all of the best, while a well trained chorus, active and pretty, add to the successful introduction of the latest popular songs. Don't miss this attraction if you enjoy fun.

For three nights, commencing on Monday evening, January 4, the people of Newark and vicinity will have the pleasure of witnessing Alfred Banyan, the greatest European hypnotist and demonstrator of occult science, at the Auditorium. If you are sceptical come and be convinced. Mr. Banyan will put a subject to sleep and place him in a prominent store window, leaving him there from Saturday until Monday evening. He defies anyone to wake the subject unless he be present. Mr. Banyan's entertainment will be amusing as well as interesting and will please all. There also will be some vaudeville features added.

James Thomas, the musical scissors grinder, opens the show at the Orphium for the last three days of the week. His act is unique and very clever, the music he produces being of high grade.

Cowley and Delle, comedy singers and dancers, are second on the number and give a very pleasing exhibition of their art.

Third on the list is George Shorty Edwards, the inimitable midget, who is no stranger to Orphium audiences, and as always kept his hearers in a continuous gurgling with his clever music, droll sayings and funny postures.

Holland, Webb and company, present a charming 32 minute drama, "The Silver Sword," and as the company is well known on the vaudeville stage, they need no extended notice today.

Manager Moore will this evening sing his new song, and the show will close, as usual, with high class life motion pictures.

Reduce April First.
The story printed extensively in the Advocate Tuesday regarding the cut in the force of policemen and firemen, made necessary by the scarcity
of funds, caused a deal of comment,
for while many people expected the reduction, yet the knowledge that it was an assured fact was a staggering
one. The reduction, however, will probably not take place until the first of April, and the men will not be thrown out of employment in the dead of winter.

Disappears With Money.
W. S. Ritter, an employee of Col.
George W. Crawford, of the Sharon Valley Stock Farm, has disappeared, and with him $2,400 belonging to the Colonel, according to a report in circulation. Ritter was sent to Piqua a few days ago with a horse for a man named Snyder, who paid that amount to Ritter upon the arrival of the animal. Since that time Ritter has not been seen or heard of and he is suspected of having skipped out with peated.

Police Court.

Factors of Safety

The human body is a wonderful machine, provided with muscular, nervous and mental energy far in excess of normal needs. In health, the organs and tissues can do double their usual amount of work without strain or friction, because they have stored energy to meet the extra demand.

When you feel "all tuckered out" these factors of safety are nearly exhausted and you need to resort to

BEECHAM'S PILLS

to renew the supply of energy, wherever it may be called for.
Indigestion, bilious attacks, constipation, loss of sleep, nervousness, dizzy spells, are warnings that the factor of safety in the stomach, liver, bowels or brain, is low, or nearing the danger point and needs to be replenished.

Beecham's Pills increase the supply of blood, strengthen the stomach, operate the bowels, feed the nerve cells, build tissue, and create a reserve supply of energy, which is the only natural and effective way to

Protect the Health

SUDDEN END OF THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.

The great fight that has been raging among Republicans for the past two weeks in Columbus over the United States Senatorship has come to a sudden end by the withdrawal of Charles P. Taft, the President-elect's brother. Notwithstanding the fact that national and state committeemen as well as other party bosses like George B. Cox were lined up for Taft and were making a desperate fight for him aided by smaller fry politicians seeking office under the new administration, the President-elect's brother was forced to quit the race. This result has undoubtedly been brought about by the large element of Republicans, outside of Ohio as well as within the state, who could not tolerate such an un-American spectacle of family rule as a Taft in the White House and another Taft in the Senate would have created. There is doubtless an inside story connected with Taft's compulsory withdrawal that will make interesting reading when the facts come out.

The withdrawal of Taft left Burton, the Cleveland Congressman, so far in the lead that all the other candidates announced their withdrawal and Burton's election seems to be conceded without further opposition in his own party.

Even the terrible effects of the eruption of Mt. Pelee seem to have been forgotten by the appalling mortality in Sicily and Calabria. The earthquake there will go into history as one of the most destructive of nature's convulsions. The loss of 120,000 lives is difficult to realize, and the destruction of many towns and villages leaves tens of thousands of people in a state of absolute destitution. It needs the help of the civilized world in caring for them.

Now that the Chinese Government is planning for the construction of a railway with a view to the better development of the vast natural resources of the Empire, the low peril is taking on an aspect of commercial encroachment. With vast quantities of untouched ores and coal and a flood of cheap labor, when the Chinese millions shall become thoroughly awake to their advantages and opportunities the Aryans will have to look to their laurels.

IN OLD NEW YORK.

First Leaf From the Diary of a Gentleman of 1840.

This is a bona fide extract from the diary of a New York gentleman in the year 1840:
"Jan. 1—Arose early and dressed, wore my fine ruffled shirt and white satin cravat. Boots rather tight, though have been wearing them a week. The curl would not straighten out of my hair, but was better after brushing. Superintended William's dressing, his white gloves not as tight as mine; nearly half an hour setting mine on.

"After being dressed we were inspected by the whole family, Mary and the girls each one doing something, pulling out my shirt ruffle or poking my cravat.

"William's hair brushed by each one in turn. About ten sallied forth.

"Called on Dr. Burgess first; very merry here; told my story about Mr. Bell being a 'Tewseyite.' Mrs. Burgess' mother very solemn and grand in a black silk gown and enormous lace cap. William rather afraid of her. Miss Burgess looked pretty.

Next call on Dr. ... who was not at home, but the ladies very fine in silks and satins. Got to James' about 12; a great table, as usual; took refreshments.

"Five p. m. got round home and called in for a moment. William very tired and complained of not feeling hungry.

Ordered carriage for evening, as I had to call on friends in Brooklyn. Quite a lively company at Dick's, all his literary friends and his artist friend. Was obliged to take a glass of hot punch. Did so, but managed to slip out with it to John, the coachman. Then got him another glass and some chicken pie. Was glad William was not with me. At Mrs. Hopson's had a fine glass of Madeira. Have not had such a wine out of my own cellar. Had another. Went to sleep in the carriage, and John took me home. At least six calls not made. Found the house full of the girls' beaux. Old Mrs. Damon, our neighbor, who is receiving calls with us, did not know me and received me in some state in the back parlor.

"Went to bed about 1. Greatly tired, having made forty or more calls, and William going to thirty-two of them; pretty good for a boy of twelve."—New York Post.

HOGMANAY DAY.

Quaint Scotch Customs Described by James Barrie.

The last day of the old year in Scotland is called hogmanay, the derivation of which word is in grave doubt. With their faces concealed with paper masks and wrapped in large sheets forming a big pocket in front of their little persons the children go a-begging for their hogmanay. Halting before the door of a house, they sing one of various verses, one of which runs: Get up, good wife, and dinna sweer And deal your bread to them that's here For the time will come when you'll be dead, And then you'll want neither ale nor bread.

They are then promptly admitted to the house and supplied with oat cake, cheese and a dram. Mr. Barrie has pathetically described how sentimental Tommy and Little Elsie observed this custom in their mother's squallid London lodgings, playing the part of mummers and visiting her for their hogmanay. While waiting for the right time to act their little play Tommy lured his mother into telling them "how they would be holding hogmanay in Thrums that night, how cart loads of kebbuck cheeses had been rolling into the town all the livelong day and in the dark closes the children were already gathering with sneared faces and in eccentric dress to sally forth at the clasp of 8 when the ringing of a bell lets hogmanay loose. Inside the houses men and women were preparing though not by fasting, which would have been such a good way that it is surprising no one ever thought of it for a series of visits, at every one of which they would be offered a dram and kebbuck and bannock and in the grander houses "brides," which are a sublime kind of pie.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Shocked St. Augustine.

Among the ancient Romans after the time of the reformation of the calendar by Julius Caesar Jan. 1 was looked upon as a day of great rejoicing. Law proceedings were stopped, white robed processions thronged the streets of Rome, visits were exchanged, presents were sent, masquerading was in vogue and banquets were held. To such an extent did Christians join in these secular celebrations that prominent bishops, like the great Augustine, thought it necessary to protest.

Our Common Birthday.

Charles Lamb said, "No one ever regarded Jan. 1 with indifference. It is that from which all date their time and count upon what is left. It is the nativity of our common Adam." And as the clock tolls forth the death of the old year the cannot but secretly grieve over its departure, and as the birth of the new year is heralded the events it has in store for one and all cannot but awaken a feeling of expectation, mixed with awe.

Historic New Year

When the Trent Affair Threatened to Cause War With Great Britain — How Mason and Slidell Were Surrendered by Lincoln and Seward —

JAN. 1, 1862, was not a happy New Year's day in these dis-united States. Just forty-seven years ago the curtain of night fell on the peaceful finale to the famous diplomatic complication known as the Trent affair.

Colonel E. D. Webster of Nebraska was at that time the private secretary of William H. Seward, Lincoln's great secretary of state. The following story of the incidents which led up to a settlement of that most serious imbroglio came from the lips of Colonel Webster himself.

When Captain Charles Wilkes of the United States man-of-war San Jacinto, returning from an unsuccessful chase of the privateer Sumter, intercepted the Trent, with Mason and Slidell on board, he took off the two commissioners and their secretaries and landed them as prisoners of war at Fort Warren, in Boston harbor.

John Bull went into an indignant, howling rage. He demanded the release of the prisoners and an apology. To show that he meant business he sent troops to Canada and began preparations for war. In addition to his formal demand he sent a little personal note to his minister at Washington directing him to allow the United States just seven days to comply.

John Bull's ultimatum reached Washington on Thursday, Dec. 19.

Friday and Saturday passed without action. Sunday was distinctly quieter about the big building devoted to affairs of state. The swarm of clerks had melted into a straggling individual here and there; the hum of a noisy, surging public had died away into the hollow echo of an occasional footfall in those reverberating halls. Seizing this period of quiet and freedom from interruption, Secretary Seward called his confidential assistants about him and set himself to the task of formulating a reply to Great Britain.

Late in the afternoon, just as Mr. Seward was concluding his paper, President Lincoln came to the office accompanied by John Hay. After the usual greetings the president referred to the Trent affair, and the secretary of state explained what had been done. Lincoln expressed a desire to know the contents of the proposed reply, and young Webster was selected to read it to him. The president listened attentively and at the close of the reading said:

"Read it again, please, so that I may have the end of every word and a third sentence."

As the second reading proceeded the president's face became more and more indicated a feeling of relief. As the secretary neared the end of the proposed document from Great Britain, he quickly sauntered to the big desk and threw it into the flames without a word of comment or explanation.

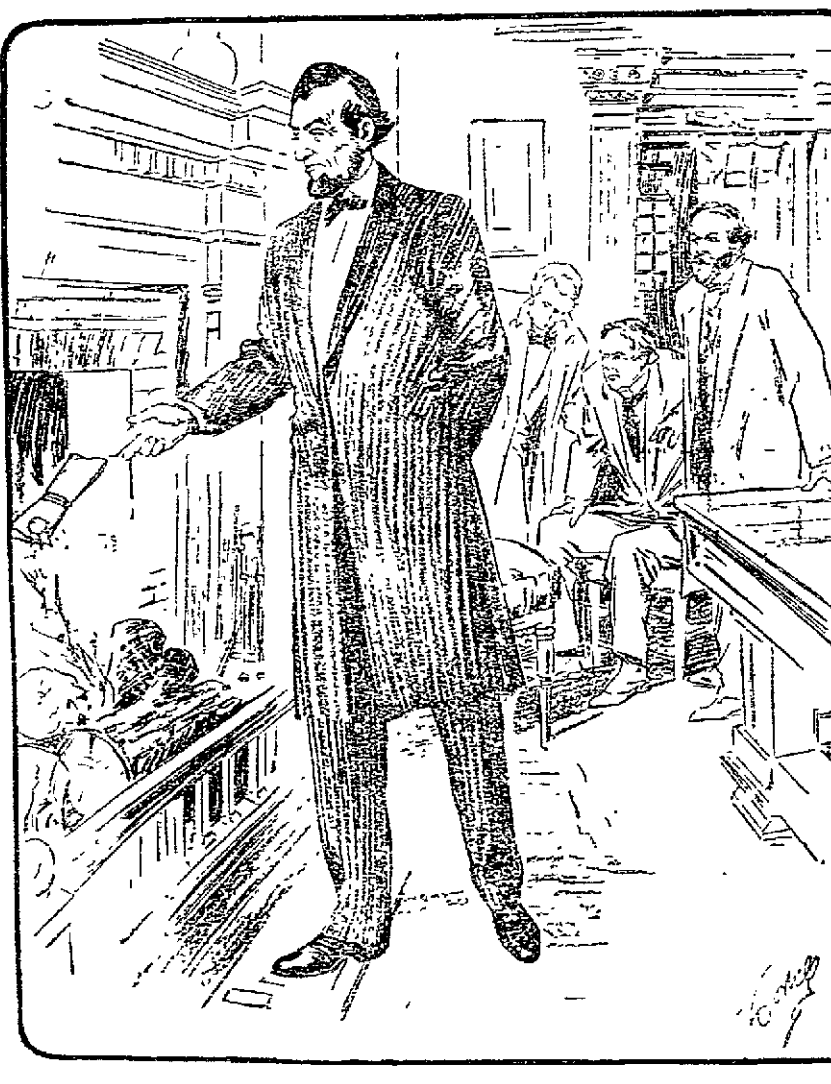

Seward's paper, considered one of the ablest and most important of his career, was the result of a long and arduous task. It was a masterpiece of diplomacy, and it was a masterpiece of timing. It was a masterpiece of timing.

ish minister, acting on his orders, would have packed his things and left Washington for England.

Years afterward, when John Hay was secretary of legation at Paris and Colonel Webster was consul at Bradford, England, they met in the gay French capital, and Webster asked about the paper which Lincoln had so unobtrusively destroyed on that memorable Sunday in Washington. Hay explained that it was a dispatch Lincoln had prepared in answer to Great Britain's demand and that it was directly opposed to the propositions of Seward's dispatch. Lincoln's dispatch was never submitted to his cabinet. At the instant of drawing the copy from his pocket that Sunday afternoon he accepted Seward's proposition without reserve, sank self and pride without hesitation and changed the impending course of American history.

The next difficulty was to surrender Mason and Slidell to Great Britain without raising a storm of indignant protest and opposition among the people of the north. The cabinet agreed that it would be wise to do it secretly. When the plans had been made Mr. Seward called Webster to his desk and asked how long it would take him to get ready to leave Washington on a secret mission of state. "About fifteen minutes," was the reply of the young man. "You will get ready at once, then, and take the next train for New York," was the order. Webster received his instructions and was cautioned above all things to guard the object of his mission from public knowledge.

A letter to the commandant of the Charlestown navy yard got him a squad of marines, and at his request they were instructed to obey his ex-every command, shooting to kill if he ordered them to fire.

New Year's morning dawned. The little tug took on its marines, and in its larder Webster stored a quantity of roast turkey, wines and other good things. The boat pulled out into Boston harbor, and then the captain learned that he was to make for Fort Warren. A letter to the commandant of the fort brought forth the four prisoners. Webster simply informed them that they were to be removed from the fort. Slidell refused to go aboard, despite repeated orders, and two marines were ordered to carry him on. One grasped him by the feet and another by the armpits. They ignored the plank which led from the ground to the landing and boldly waded into the water. The body of the man hanging between them was dipped into the water at every step. The day was bitterly cold, and by the time Slidell reached his tormentors and reached the little cabin his clothing was almost frozen stiff.

The tug turned its nose toward the town, on Cape Cod, where a British man-of-war, the Rinaldo, had been ordered to receive the prisoners. At 10 o'clock, after a long and arduous journey, the boat seemed in sight. Slidell was ordered to disembark, and he was carried ashore and received by the British.

Slidell, in obedience to his orders, immediately disembarked and was carried ashore and received by the British.

Slidell, in obedience to his orders, immediately disembarked and was carried ashore and received by the British.

A delay of another day and the British minister, acting on his orders, would have packed his things and left Washington for England.

Living in the open air, interstices, shacks, hovels of any description, means poorly cooked and coming at all hours, still they are a hardy, healthy people.

They drank from Nature's unadorned fountains and thereby kept the 65 per cent of their bodies which is composed of water, pure. Their mode of life in this respect is superior to that of many city dwellers at this time, who do not hesitate to pollute the system with drainage from a dense population. ## SUDDEN DEATH OF F. H. CARLILE WEDNESDAY EVE.

Well Known City Draughtsman After Working at Office All Day, Expires Suddenly at 7:10 p.m.

Fred H. Carlile, who has been employed as draughtsman in the office of the city engineer for the past two years, died suddenly at his father's home, 72 High street, Tuesday evening at 7:10 o'clock, due to an acute affection of his throat known medically as Ludwig's Angina, an inflammation of the neck and larynx which caused strangulation.

The news of Mr. Carlile's unexpected death came as a decided shock to his great number of friends over the city. He had been about the office of City Engineer Wells all day Wednesday, but had complained during the day of a painful swelling in his throat, which made breathing a difficulty. He had been complaining slightly for the past few days of throat trouble which he believed to be tonsillitis.

About 5 o'clock Wednesday evening the assistants at the engineer's office noticed his illness and advised him to go home, to which he consented, complaining of extreme difficulty in breathing. Even then his condition was not considered alarming, and it was not until close to the time of his death that it was deemed necessary to call a physician, which was done by the family of Charles Fleming, his foster brother, with whom he made his home.

Dr. W. H. Knauss was hastily summoned, but had only been at the side of the patient for a few minutes when he died. The physician, not expecting an operation, did not have surgical instruments with him with which to open the throat, but immediately sent for Dr. J. P. H. Stedem, in the meantime using a pair of scissors in an effort to bring relief, but this was of no avail, for even before the operation had been performed Mr. Carlile had expired.

Mr. Carlile was born and reared in Newark, and spent practically all of his life in this city, where he has been engaged from time to time as an architect, being at one time a member of the firm of Carlile & Cully, architects and engineers, and later in connection with various firms of engineers. He would have been 39 years old today had he lived.

His father, Mr. Edward Carlile, is now abroad visiting relatives in Exeter, Eng., where he has been for the past nine months. The father, Mrs. Nola Carlile, and one daughter, Helen survive. There are also several relatives who live in Columbus, including uncles and aunts.

To Stop a Cough In a Hurry.

Of all the "best things" to do for a cough, the following home-made remedy will be found by far the most effective. The sooner it is taken, of course, the better; but even deep-seated coughs usually yield readily after a few doses. Here is the recipe:
 Granulated Sugar Syrup..... 1/2 pt.
 Pinex..... 2 oz.
 Put the 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (9 cents worth) in a clean pint bottle, and fill up with Granulated Sugar Syrup, made as follows: Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add 1/2 cup water, heat and let boil just a moment. Take a teaspoonful of the mixture, two or three times, as required.
 Simple as it is, there is nothing better for the purpose. It is enough to last the whole family a long time. Keep well corked. It never spoils. The taste is so pleasant that children take it readily without the usual struggle.
 Pinex, as you probably know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. It is rich in gualacal and other elements which have made the pine woods of Norway famous for the cure of consumption. Your druggist has it, or if out of it, will gladly get it for you on request. In making this recipe, use the many weaker pine oil and pine tar preparations, use the real Pinex itself. Granulated Sugar makes the best syrup.

Anty Drudge's Message.

"To every woman who washes clothes:

Tell me your washday troubles. My mission in life is to do away with washday drudgery. I've helped thousands of women to lighten their work and make life happier, and I'll gladly help you.

(Signed) ANTY DRUDGE, Philadelphia.

There is only one soap it's wise to use for washing clothes in Winter and that is Fels-Naptha.

Of course you can use others—if you don't mind hard work, the nauseous steam from boiling and hot suds, chapped hands and the danger of catching a nasty cold.

If you want to avoid these, use Fels-Naptha in lukewarm water. No boiling. No hard rubbing.

Here are directions for washing the white things:

Wet the white clothes in lukewarm water, soap well with Fels-Naptha, let stand for about thirty minutes in lukewarm water. Rub lightly, rinse, blue and hang up to dry.

Other washing just as easy—colored clothes and flannels and woolens.

Your clothes will be cleaner, whiter, sweeter than if boiled till Doomsday.

And think of the comfort and lightening of your work!

All that's necessary is to get a cake of Fels-Naptha and follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

LIGHT FLASHED WHILE ROBBERY WAS COMMITTED

Mr. John Chilcote Saw in Mrs. John Swisher's Room—Looked Like Flash of Pocket Lantern.

There have been no new developments in the Swisher diamond robbery case though the officers are tracking down every possible clue and bending every effort in their power to locate the missing jewels and the man who took them. Harry Lowlight, the chauffeur of Mr. Swisher, and the man who was arrested soon after the robbery was discovered, is being held at the city prison, although the case against him is gradually clearing up. Lowlight seems to be able to furnish a complete alibi and to account for his whereabouts during Tuesday afternoon and evening, the time of the robbery.

Mr. Swisher and his wife did not leave the house until after their chauffeur had departed and the diamonds were at that time in the dresser drawer.

The residence of the Swishers is one of the most prominent in the city, and for a man to climb the porch without attracting attention would practically be impossible. Of course this might be done later in the evening when the actions of the man would be concealed by the darkness. Finger prints were found on one of the porch columns and tend to give the theory of the police, that the thief was a porch climber, more weight.

The finger prints were carefully protected from the rain and snow by covering that the police placed there, and an expert Bertillon man from the Ohio Penitentiary or from the Mansfield reformatory will be called to examine them and to take careful measurements of them for future reference.

Mr. John Chilcote has reported to the police that on the night of the robbery he saw a light flash in the room of Mrs. Swisher. To him it looked as though it might be from a pocket electric light.

The telephone call from Zanesville to the local police the night of the robbery, and which was thought to be a daring hoax by the local police, has proved to be the real thing. A telephone girl was found who received the call and "dead-headed" it to the local headquarters. The police will thoroughly investigate what may be the means of landing the thief or the stolen jewels.

Harry Lowlight, even if he is released from the shadow of suspicion in the robbery of his employer, will have to face a charge of petit larceny, for Henry Rutenhaus, another employe of Colonel Crawford, appeared at police headquarters Thursday morning and identified the revolver in Lowlight's room. He said the gun belonged to him and that it disappeared when the prisoner left Crawford's employment. He swore to a warrant charging Lowlight with the theft.

Lowlight was given his hearing on the charge of petit larceny this afternoon, and he pleaded guilty to the charge. He was bound over in the sum of $300, which he failed to furnish, and was taken to the county jail.

AL KAUFFMAN

Gets Decision in Thirty-Ninth Round Over Jim Barry—Neither Showed Class for Johnson.

Los Angeles, Dec. 31.—The heavy-weight fight of Jim Barry and Al Kauffman ended in the 39th round last night. Barry's seconds throwing up the sponge. Barry put up a game exhibition and fought the last 19 rounds, with both hands broken. He won every time he landed on Kauffman and was all but out in the 37th round but kept on coming. Neither man showed class to fight Johnson.

PLANS GOOD ROADS MEETING

Columbus, Dec. 31.—A meeting is to be held in Columbus Friday, January 1, following the state farmer's institute, for the purpose of forming a good roads' association. The plan is to have the meeting one of farmers insofar as possible and to discourage the attendance of automobilists or representatives of automobile associations.

State Highway Commissioner Wonders wants $800,000 for good roads this coming year, and it will be one of the objects of the association to see that he gets as much of it as possible. Another amendment wanted to the law is that state aid will be given for the building or repair of roads which

CLAUDE ELLIOTT MAY MANAGE NEWARK TEAM

WATKINS WILL SEND CLASSY PITCHER HERE IF SALE OF NEWARK CLUB IS MADE.

Elliott Has Made Good Reputation in Big Leagues and Will Put a Winner in Here.

Claude Elliott, 6 ft. 5 in. in height and weighing about 220 pounds, one of the premier pitchers of the Indianapolis club, will probably be the manager for the Newark team in 1931.

Knowing baseball as the average person knows his alphabet, Elliott will be a man that will put a team into Newark such as we have not had since 1907. Of course the fact remains that Watkins, president of the pennant winning A. A. club may not close the deal, but it is almost certain that the Newark franchise will be purchased by the hustling Hoosier president.

Elliott has had big league experience and for a season and a half he was with the New York Giants. He pitched winning ball for Milwaukee three seasons ago, and was drafted by McGraw. He proved to be in bad physical condition and asked to be returned to a lower class club and his request was granted with the result that he landed in Louisville.

A triangular deal between Kansas City, Louisville and Indianapolis was pulled off, with the result that Elliott landed in the Indiana city. With his pitchers all going in nice form last season Elliott was not used by Carr, and he asked to be sent out to a farm of the club.

Out of many towns he chose Newark and presented the good points of this city in such a satisfactory manner that Carr, the Indianapolis manager held a conference in Columbus with Directors Stasel and Koos.

It is almost a moral certainty that the Newark club will be transferred to Indianapolis and the ultimate result may be that the fans of this city will have a club next season that they can be proud of, and one that will be up in the running during the entire year, even if it doesn't bring the pennant here.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd, by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at Frank P. Hall's drug store.

Resolved

FIRST—That I will not idle away my odds and ends of time during 1930, as I have in the past.

SECOND—Resolved, That I will use this time in giving myself an education at home, that will be of the greatest possible use to me in the future.

THIRD—Resolved, That by the aid of the specially prepared instruction given by the INTERNATIONAL CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS of Scranton, Pa., I can and will so prepare myself during the coming year that my future will be assured, so that when I am 50, I will not be holding an inferior position.

Can you imagine any better resolutions than these? 4000 students voluntarily reported an increase in salary during the past year. Do you know any technically educated men who were out of work during the recent hard times? If so, were they not the last to go and the first to get back?

There is no course we teach that you cannot learn, if you can but read and write to start with, and will have the perseverance to stay with it.

This being a fact, I hereby resolve to wait no longer, but to call TODAY, on the local representative, W. S. ALMAREY, 2 North Park Place, and get a thorough explanation of the course, methods of instruction, prices, terms of payment, etc.

TREASURER'S OFFICE VERY BUSY PLACE
Largest Receipts for Single Day Nearly $17,000—Taxpayers Turning in the Shocks.

A glance into County Treasurer C. L. V. Holtz's office at any time during the past several weeks was convincing proof that it has been the busiest place in the court house. Mr. Holtz, his deputy, Mr. William H. Miles, and Assistant Deputy J. K. Poundstone have been kept busy eight hours every day since November 30th gathering in the shekels. The biggest rush is over as Mr. Holtz has extended the time for paying taxes until the 20th of January. The largest receipts for any one day were $16,837.62, which was taken in on Saturday, December 19. Of this amount $9,917.99 was paid in by the Panhandle railroad company. On Tuesday, December 15, $14,059 was received and on the 18th, $11,000. The amounts in which the money is received varies from less than a dollar to sums that amount up into the hundreds. Of course many persons living outside the county as well as many others, prefer to pay their taxes by check. This means just double work for the treasurer. He must first answer the letter in which he is asked the amount due upon certain property. The check is then received and he forwards the receipts to the owner.

A Healthy Family.

"BEER TASTER"

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Dumlup Will Test All Temperance Beers.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Kenrick W. Dumlup has been appointed official "beer taster" of the state. Commissioner Dumlup is invested with the power of accepting or rejecting the products manufactured as a substitute for beer, and in this capacity has been extremely busy during the past several months of local option voting. From every section of the state samples of the so-called temperance beer, offered for sale in the dry counties, is being sent to the commissioner for investigation. To be non-intoxicating they must contain less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol. Some of the samples show almost the two per cent found in beer. Others are within the limit of safety. From one the alcohol has been extracted and oxidized so that the chemist could find only the slightest trace. In some instances a sample of beer will be legally non-intoxicating, while the next sample of the same article will be far over the limit. A large quantity of the substitute "beer" is being made in the dry counties, many of the breweries making a specialty of the business to recoup revenues lost through local option elections.

WEATHER MAN PROMISES COLD WAVE FOR TODAY

Newarkites Awoke Shivering on the Morning of Last Day of 1908. Blizzard in West.

The last day of 1908 is passing, and with it comes what is really the first touch of winter that has been experienced since the winter months of the first part of the year. Older residents of the city fail to recall the passing of a year with such a mild winter in a period covering the last two decades, and pronounce it a phenomenal condition.

But with the coming of the last day of the year, we are informed that much colder weather is now in store for us, and many parts of the country are already experiencing the sudden and increasing drop in temperature, accompanied by snow storms of great severity throughout the Northwest and the Southern Canada border regions.

WHAT'S THE USE
Of all that dirty work of polishing your stove with stove polish if it is going to burn off the first time you use your stove? If you would use your stove one coat of STAY (no polishing necessary) it will stay black for one month even. Wall stove gets red hot every day. Not burn or rub off. Is not colored. A child can apply it. For sale by J. C. Jones, 25c.

Moore of Athens, in charge of the eleventh district, into a veritable sinecure, and has cut off nearly all of the revenue the government has been receiving from the sale of liquor in the district.

Collector Moore was at the state house, Wednesday, and he stated that 25 of the 28 counties in his district had voted dry, one had voted wet and that two had not held elections yet. The wet county is Fairfield and Franklin and Ross counties are those which have not voted. He stated that hereafter about all that he will have to do will be to draw his salary, which, fortunately for him, is not based upon the collections of the office, but is a stipulated amount fixed by the department.

There are three other internal revenue districts in the state, the collectors being Bernhard Bettman of Cincinnati, Wm. V. McMaken of Toledo, and Frank McCord of Cleveland. Fewer counties have gone dry in these districts than in that of Collector Moore.

The heads and subordinate officials in fear and trembling lest the federal authorities at Washington, in view of the greatly reduced revenues, will take a notion to lop off salaries and reduce the size of the forces of the four offices. The effect of the local option law is to materially reduce the business of the collectors and it is stated that the principal duties of the clerks now consist in being
